

Murat Sener

Ceramic Artist | Sculptor | Adjunct Professor | Co-founder of MUSZ Studio

Murat Sener is a dedicated and innovative ceramic artist and sculptor whose creative journey revolves around transforming clay into expressive works of art. For Sener, clay is more than a material—it is the most powerful medium through which he shapes his thoughts and gives life to his imagination. While clay is at the core of his practice, his work is enriched by influences from other art forms, allowing him to push the boundaries of traditional ceramics.

As the co-founder and artist of MUSZ Studio, Sener specializes in various ceramic techniques to produce original and high-quality artworks, each piece reflecting his passion for craftsmanship and storytelling. His artistic approach is rooted in a constant dialogue between material and concept, leading to the creation of pieces that evoke curiosity and inspire reflection.

Sener is also an adjunct professor of ceramics at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore, where he guides and inspires the next generation of artists. In his classes, he opens the doors to new worlds, encouraging young talents to see clay as a limitless tool for creation.

Currently, Sener holds a studio residency at the Torpedo Factory Art Center in Alexandria, one of the largest and most vibrant public art hubs in the United States. Within this dynamic environment, his studio serves as a space where creativity flourishes and artistic dreams take tangible form. Here, Sener continuously experiments with new techniques and ideas, blending tradition with innovation.
