Liliane Blom is an installation artist as well as a classically trained painter and award-winning photographer. She calls her fusion of painting and photography digital painting. Her pieces printed on canvas or watercolor paper are later enhanced with oils/pastels and often with gold or silver leaf, beads and embroidery. Her installation pieces are interactive and immersive and often environmental in scope. They are multi-sensory experiences, that engage the viewer with sound/touch and light. Playful, they unapologetically appeal to our sense of wonder

"The use of digital mixed media as a rush. This is a fine example of technology and painting esthetics. Technology is used as a brush. Intriguing color and attention to detail."
